THE WAR IN VIRGINIA.

Reports from the Shalltion Press. amplied by the Petersburg Express ! Through prisoners captured in our front yes-terday, a few miles from the city, near Port Walthall junction, Chesterfield county, our au-thorities have secured late New York and Philadelphia papers. We have been permitted to burg, make a few extracts from the New York Times of Wednesday, May 1tth. It will be seen that We the enemy acknowledge unprecedented losses up to that time. The Times contains a lengthy list of killed and wounded officers, from major list of hilled and wounded officers, from majorgenerals down to captains. The Herald says Grant's losses foot up twenty-seven thousand; that Grant's provisions were growing very short,
and that unless something be done very seen, there was some doubt about Grant's gotting to Richmond at all. Butler, however, had greatly cheered up the Liucoin dynasty by announcing that he had whipped Beauregard, held the ratiroad between Richmond and Petersburg, and if Grant did not get to Richmond, he would.
